THE LATEST CZAR'S CONSCIENCE

Severely Shaken up by Recent Explosions.

Vera Sassulitch Captured in St. Petersburg.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The St. Petersburg Gazette announces that Vera Sassulitch, the young woman who has attained so wide a reputation as an energetic, practical and uncompromising nihilist, has been arrested at the house of a friend in St. Petersburg by means of information conveyed to the police by the authorities of Geneva, Switzerland, where she has been sojourning. Her courage and audacity in returning voluntarily to St. Petersburg, where she is under sentence of banishment, to join her friends with the assumed purpose of assisting and counseling with them during the excitement now prevailing, is much commented upon. The Geneva authorities have kept the police in St. Petersburg informed of her movements, and the arrest was effected without difficulty.

ATTACKED BY THE PALL MALL GAZETTE.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The Pall Mall Gazette this afternoon contains a remarkably bitter assault upon the Czar, apropos of his recent proclamation announcing that he has placed extraordinary powers in the hands of General Louis Melikoff. The effect of this, says the Pall Mall Gazette, is to proclaim that the Czar has abdicated in favor of General Melikoff. The Czar will make a hundred enemies in his place where before there were but ten, and affront every member of his family, from his son downward.

BERLIN, Feb. 27.—On dit in St. Petersburg court circles that the affair of the explosion has had the unexpected but happy termination of bringing about a better personal understanding between the Czar and Carina.

The story runs that the Czar out of gratitude at his escape from death and that of his household who was threatened with a common destruction, on communicating the facts to the Czarina on the following day, expressed his sense of regret for the accidents to which his past conduct had given rise, and assured her of his intention to give no occasion for their repetition, and that he also proposed as a temporary escape from the turmoil of the capital, retirement for a time to some quiet spot where both might recuperate in mind and body. This turn of affairs is declared to have afforded deep satisfaction to the Empress, who willingly consented to the plan, and it has already a very beneficial effect upon her health.

COHOES' STRIKE.

Forty Thousand Working People Directly Interested.

Daily Loss of Wages Estimated at $60,000.

National Associated Press to the Star.

CORONA, N. Y., Feb. 27.—The operatives of the Harmony Company, including those of mills number one, two and three, number three extension, and the Jute, Strong & Ogden mills struck this morning for an advance of 10 per cent. of wages, and the dinner hour prolonged to one hour. Forty thousand working people are directly connected with this movement, and 275,000 spindles are in enforced idleness.

The loss in wages is estimated at $60,000 daily. The feeling of excitement is intense. The strikers are now holding an immense mass meeting. The strike was begun in the weavers' room of No. 1 mill on account of the lengthening of "cuts" of cloth from 45½ yards to 49 yards with an additional 2 cents for each cut. The weavers alleged that this was unfair. It is feared the strike will be contagious and extend to the knitting mills and other industries.

DE LESEPS TALKS BRIDGE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Concerning the Brooklyn bridge Mr. De Lesseps yesterday said it will be financial success. "I think, as I am told 100,000 people will cross it daily. As a work of engineering art it is boldly conceived. The height of the bridge is about that of the ridges through which we have the deepest cuttings in Panama. No comparison of the bridge can be made with any other suspension bridge either as to height or length of span. I understand it is sixty-six per cent wider than the suspension bridge over the Niagara River. There is nothing in France to compare with your Brooklyn bridge. I think it will be a strong bridge and safe if a continuous watch be kept over the wires. No French engineers could have designed so boldly." His associate engineers were led into a discussion of the same subject and their united judgment was expressed thusly: "The bridge is admirably built. All the calculations are elaborate and there is nothing to prevent it lasting for six centuries."

EXECUTION TO-DAY IN ARKANSAS.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 27.—A Little Rock special states that arrangements are all completed at Ozark, Ark., for the execution to-day of Thomas Edmunds, who was convicted of one of the darkest deeds in the history of crime.

In 1877 Edmunds left Kentucky with Julia Aasebrook, locating in Washington County, Ark. His family had been left behind. The following year he, Julia and their children started for Johnson County. They were to take a boat at Spratt's Landing, on the Arkansas River, reaching there August 17th. Then they were missed, and on the 22d Edmunds turned up at his old Kentucky home. He stated to his friends that Julia and the child had died at Poplar Bluff, Missouri. A few months afterwards human bones were found on the edge of the river, near Spratt's Landing, and the clothing of the missing woman and child found on the bank. Owing to a peculiar tooth the ghostly skull was identified as that of Miss Aasebrook, and it is for this horrible double murder that Edmunds is to swing to-day. He was sentenced exactly two months ago to-day.

MACK AND HYDE.

War of Words Between Prominent St. Louis Editors.

Special to the Star.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 27.—Since St. Louis lost the National Democratic Convention some St. Louis journals, the Globe-Democrat being one, have freely charged that the delegation sent from this city, of which Wm. Hyde, managing editor of the Republican was a member, got drunk and thus forfeited the opportunities of this city. Last night Hyde encountered Mr. J. B. McCullagh, managing editor of the Globe-Democrat, on the street, and bringing up the subject a bitter verbal warfare ensued, in which the language used was much more forcible than elegant.

Hyde, however, carried off the palm and outgeneraled his opponent in the application of opprobrious epithets. The controversy had arrived at that pitch when blows were next on the programme, but the friends of both parties at that moment stepped up and led their respective champions away. It is rumored this morning that bloodshed will yet result from the affair, but the best informed say it will end as such difficulties generally do, in wind.

"Whereas, It is now proposed to construct, under guarantees given by foreign Governments, a canal across the Isthmus of Darien, therefore be it

"Resolved, That the doctrine announced to the world more than half a century ago by President Monroe, and known as the Monroe Doctrine, be, and the same is hereby reasserted, and in accord therewith on behalf of the people of the United States, we affirm that the control of any inter-oceanic canal across the Isthmus of Darien, while open to us and all nations equally, must in the interest of ourselves and the world, be kept under the special protection of the United States.

The Price of Wheat.

Is now low when compared with the ruling prices in December, as the opening of water navigation from Chicago to the seaboard is near at hand. A large movement of grain may be expected to supply the almost unlimited demand of Europe, where the crops of 1879 were a failure. Wheat may be bought and carried for one or two months by depositing margin in a National Bank in this city of 5 per cent. of its value. It may be bought to-day and sold to-morrow, if the advance has been sufficient to secure satisfactory profit, and amount deposited together with the profit, is payable upon demand. If grain is bought for April delivery it may be sold at any time previously, and the account closed. No personal attention is required. Call at Room 2, N.
